Preface

Children love to draw pictures. They have enormous powers to observe objects keenly and have the capability to put into paper the imaginations they visualize in their minds.

I used to conduct various drawing competitions for students studying in schools and once the topic for drawing were made available to them, within the limited time frame, they used produce excellent pictures and many a times, such drawings were found to be beyond our imaginations and expectations. I provide in this book the images of thirty seven drawings executed by students and I hope that you will enjoy viewing such pictures. You can use this book to the notice of your children so that they can create marvelous drawings using their excellent creative ability.

In case of need, you can contact me through my email id: gausan51@gmail.com.
